ALL LIFE INSURANCE RECORDS ARE BROKEN

The annual report of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on the business of 1920 shows that the new business placed on the books all previous records in the world. Neither the great amount of new insurance taken out, nor the percentage of losses indicate depression in the business or industrial world. The amount placed in the United States and Canada was $1,551,973,151 which is a gain of more than two hundred and fifty million dollars, as compared with the previous year.

The income and assets increased proportionately, the income for the year being $263,519,779, and the assets making a gain of $116,619,262 for a total of $980,913,067. Dividends have been declared, payable to policyholders in 1921 amounting to $10,819,360, of which $6,961,261 is to holders of industrial policies.

The number of policies outstanding at the end of the year was 23,829,997 or about one for every five of the population. The number increased in 1920 by 2,128,226.

Claims were paid on 112,689 policies, an average of one every 28 seconds for each business day of eight hours. The amount paid to policyholders in claims, matured endowments, dividends, etc., was $1,257,332, or an average of $556.56 a minute for every business day of eight hours. Group insurance amounted to $214,347,372.

The Company had invested at the end of the year in bonds and mortgages, $57,703,045. In 1920 the Company loaned and agreed to loan $85,990,000, mostly for housing.

Metropolitan nurses made 1,039,938 free visits to policyholders and Metropolitan Agents in all parts of the United States and Canada engaged in a health campaign through the distribution of literature to policyholders to the extent of over eighteen million pieces. These health activities have been continuous during the last ten years and the Company has found that they have had an appreciable effect on its mortality. The death rate, for 1920, among industrial policyholders was the lowest in the history of the Company. The reduction in general mortality in the last nine years has been 22.74 per cent. The Company's ratio of mortality from typhoid in the year 1920 was 72 per cent. In tuberculosis 40 per cent. heart disease, a little over 13 per cent. Bright's disease, nearly 27 per cent and the infectious diseases of children, over 28 per cent. This reduction and for each principal cause of death, is greater than that shown by statistics in the registered area of the United States.

LONDON WROUGHT UP OVER MIXED JURIES

London.—A storm of discussion, both commendation and condemnation, has swept through London newspapers as the result of the innovation of having women serve with men as members of juries in divorce cases.

The first mixed jury to sit in the London divorce court has been unable to agree on a verdict and been discharged after hearing the case for four days.

In the comment on the proceedings, newspaper editorials and the contributed communications of readers have discussed principally the propriety of obliging women as members of the jury to examine all the evidence submitted.

In this case counsel for one of the parties to the action announced that he had evidence to submit which he did not consider it proper to place before women jurors. The judge said he was helpless in the matter but ultimately only the men jurors examined the evidence.

Sir Edward Marshall-Hall, counsel for one of the parties, said that this was the first case he had ever conducted before a mixed jury and that he hoped he would never have to deal with a case of such a nature again.

"It is undesirable that there are many cases in which the assistance of women will be of the greatest value to the court," said Sir Edward, "but there are other cases in which, from the nature of the evidence much will have to be discussed before them, it is undesirable that they should serve."

Sir Edward's comment evoked a hot retort from George Bernard Shaw, playwright, who, writing to the Daily News, "as a member of the male sex," took issue with the views of the barrister.

"Sir Edward Marshall-Hall's assumption that my sensibilities in this matter are less delicate than women's is not only unfounded but extremely offensive," wrote Mr. Shaw. "Why in the name of common sense did this blushing barrister exclude six jurymen from the apology which he thought it necessary to make for presenting them (some of the exhibits in the case) to the six jurymen?"

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

The real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Tastes good and cleanses the throat.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs. Into a pint bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

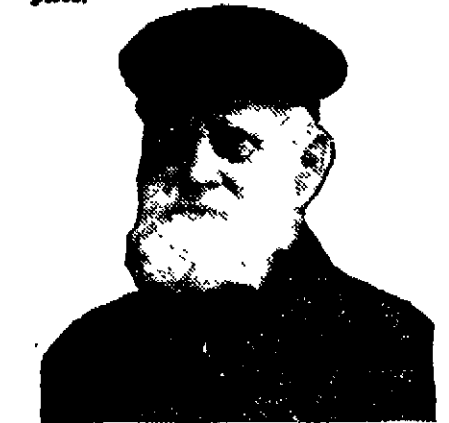

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

SEEMED FUNNY TO PERUVIAN

South American Unable to Understand Why Republicans Did Not Seize the White House.

One day a Peruvian friend came to me in great excitement, waving a newspaper.

"Senor," he cried, "there is a revolution in the United States."

"What do you mean?"

He showed me the paper. It contained a brief account of the Republican convention in Chicago, in which Senator Lodge said several uncomplimentary things about President Wilson.

"You see," explained the Peruvian, "the President's enemies openly attack him. Is the army disloyal? Why do they not suppress the demonstration?"

I explained to him that in the United States it is any citizen's privilege to abuse the Chief Executive to his heart's content, that no effort is made either by the army or by the President himself to check such demonstrations, and that the Republican party would wait patiently until March 4 instead of descending in a body upon the White House and forcibly ejecting Mr. Wilson.

He smiled in polite incredulity. "What funny people!" he laughed.

His own President had gained office by the more simple expedient of first winning the good-will of the army, then walking into the official palace to hand the former incumbent a ticket on the first steamer out of town.—Leslie's.

AIR GLIDERS IN COMPETITION

Remarkable Speed Attained at Recent Meeting in the Rhone District of Germany.

A German gliding and soaring competition was recently held in the Rhone district by the League of German Model Aircraft and Gliding Clubs. The meeting was marred by an unfortunate accident, resulting in the death of the well-known pilot, Von Loessel. This was due to breaking in the air at the elevator of his glider. A number of monoplane and biplane were entered, reports the Scientific American, some of very novel design. Many of the entries had comfortable seats and landing gear as distinguished from the old-time gliders in which the operator's legs swung from below the planes, ready to take up the strain of hard landing, often at the price of serious injuries. The longest distance covered by the gliders was 1,830 meters, with a duration of 142.5 seconds. That record was made by Klemperer, with a height of 330 meters. The apparent gliding angle of Klemperer's flight was one in thirty-one.

More Than Two Years En Route.

In June, 1918, some Canadian soldiers, crossing the Atlantic to join the forces in Europe, threw overboard in mid-ocean a sealed bottle with a note inside to the effect that they were on their way to the war and asking the finder of the bottle to forward the note to the Toronto Sunday World. The bottle has just been washed ashore at St. Ives in Cornwall and the request been carried out. What would be interesting to know would be where the bottle has been during the last two years and a half, and what is the drift that brings so much flotsam and jetsam into the harbor of the little fishing town on the Atlantic. There are many theories, one of which credits the Gulf stream with a memory for the old smuggling days and an intention, in the case of the Canadians' bottle, to show awareness of these good new days which find fresh uses for things of unlovely repute.

Ideal Lighting.

According to an illuminating engineer, what is wanted today in home illumination is the sort of good lighting that is found on the shady side of a tree on a sunny afternoon. Substitute for the sun a new 100-watt lamp, for the sky the creamy ceiling of a living room and for the tree an opalescent disk or bowl from the ceiling you now get a soft radiance which floods the entire room as though it were opened to the sky; from the diffusing disk you get a generous addition of light directly beneath having the quality of filtered sunlight. You have approximated the charming effect of mellow radiance that was apparent under the tree.

Tree's Peculiar Growth.

Trees that grow with a spiral twist, concealing a ropelike fiber under a straight bark, are not unknown, but are generally regarded as arboreal curiosities. A recent instance in which a pine tree of this curious formation, discovered through the agency of a lightning stroke, is reported by W. M. Kern, of New York city. The bolt, in its downward course, circled the trunk seven times, leaving a spiral channel in which a map's arm could be laid, and disclosing the fact that the grain of the wood followed the same helical lines, though the bark and limbs appeared normal.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

CHURCH LEAGUE LEADERS WILL CLASH TONIGHT
The biggest game in the series of the Y. M. C. A. church league basketball takes place tonight at the Y. The league leaders will clash in what may be the last battle for these two teams. Neal avenue will have its last chance to wallop the East Main basketballers and in so doing will tie the standing 11 won and 2 lost. Should the East Main take the long end of the score the championship of the league will go with them as there is but one more week of play.

This main bout is the first one of the two games on the program. It will be followed by the Presbyterian game in which the First church and Second church teams clash.

The admission fee will be the same as for other games, the fact that a championship battle is on will not affect the price of admission.

Milady's Boudoir

The Cause of Baldness.
Nerve exhaustion is responsible for thin, fine hair on women. This affliction has usually been ascribed to anemic conditions of the lifeless condition of the blood, from which cause nervous people usually suffer. The hair, fed by the capillaries, naturally loses strength when the nerves are exhausted.

The deceased nerves may directly cause atrophy of the hair roots. It is a new idea but may explain many cases of baldness in which the scalp seems free from bacteria and the general health is good. In such cases falling hair has more than a superficial interest to the woman who craves beauty. Eric acid, the parent of rheumatism, shows its presence in several ways that affect the physical beauty of a woman. Dentists have found that uric acid is responsible for a great part of enamel decay. Inflamed eyelids are often traced to the same source, and it has been discovered that a certain biotininess of the skin of the face is a frequent complaint from persons suffering from inflammatory rheumatism.

It is now held that few cases of baldness are due to parasites. Dandruff, or some other form of parasite, was long accepted as the cause of falling hair, but this theory is no longer held in view of the discoveries in the matter of nerves.

Everyday Etiquette

"When serving salad should one put it on the plate with the meat or on a separate plate?" asked Bessie.
"Use but one plate when meat or fish are served with salad. If vegetables are served put the salad on smaller plates," answered her aunt.

Our Boys and Girls

Interfering in disputes between children is a delicate task and the parent should not approach the settlement thinking that all are equally to blame, nor should the punishment be administered equally to all. Parties to a quarrel are seldom equally at fault. Usually there is an aggressor and when the little ones tempers have subsided they usually will tell one the truth about the dispute.

The child who develops the bullying, nagging or teasing propensity should not be allowed to exercise it on younger members of the family. A good punishment for such a child is isolation. It is well to have a quiet talk with such a child, showing the offender that it is not manly, noble or brave to make smaller ones unhappy. After a period of loneliness and reflection the bully will wish to contribute his share to the common happiness.

STORE OPENING TONIGHT.
The formal opening of the Sardeson & Hovland store in East Park Place to the people of Newark will be held this evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. The Fred Abbott orchestra will furnish a musical program for the opening hours.

In some parts of China it is still considered a high act of virtue for a woman to commit suicide upon the death of her husband.

MAPLE SYRUP CROP PROMISES TO BE LARGE

Youngstown, March 7.—Maple sugar and syrup makers in northeastern Ohio are engaged in large numbers in boiling the products of their groves, a survey shows. The season is one of the earliest on record.

Mild weather sent owners of maple groves into the timber with sugar spiles and pails all over the sugar belt a week or so ago. Notwithstanding the wholesale deforestation in the Western Reserve, the sugar maple, the rock maple, the hard maple and the sugar tree still abound in certain parts of the Reserve.

The method used in producing maple syrup and hard brown maple syrup practically is the same as 25 years ago. Spiles used to draw sugar from the trees must penetrate well into the wood. Spiles are screwed into the trees and are solid enough to sustain the weight of a fair-sized pail. Not many years ago, the principal method of farmers was to bore into the trees, insert a small wooden spout and set the pail on the ground.

This year promises to bring a record crop of syrup, according to farmers, who say the weather has been unusually favorable. One grower in Trumbull county, already has tapped 1,500 trees. It is said.

The sap of the wood begins to run before the true sap commences to rise between the wood and the bark of the tree.

The Flyer's Trophy
By HAROLD SINCLAIR

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union)

"I'm afraid that pretty sister of yours will never see my much vaunted trophy," said Elwyn Moore, airman.

"She's got to. I promised her. I wrote her all about it, and you. So brace up, old man. Take your pick. The long stick—south. The short stick—east. Choose."

It was an impressive scene and an unusual one. Upon a broad plateau in the heart of the North Carolina mountains rested the monoplane Victor. The two expert birdmen had just carried off the honors in an aero meet at Savannah. They designed a trip to the home of Nelson Barton, in Delaware, where his father and his sister awaited them. Now, in a flight over a desolate, well nigh uninhabited country, the "juice" had given out and the Victor was "stalled." Gasoline must be found or the machine abandoned.

Barton hid all but the ends of two twigs in his hand. Moore drew the long one—south. Barton started east with the laughing boast that he would be back first with the needed fuel for the engine.

It was nightfall when Barton toiled slowly down a winding valley—lost. "This is getting pretty desperate," decided Barton. "Ah, at last—a light." Suddenly loud shouts and then shots in the distance attracted his attention. Following the same a great lurid glow sprang up across the eastern horizon. "A fire!" exclaimed Barton, and he started toward it. A terrific hubbub increased as he advanced.

A woman, clasping a little babe close to her breast, and holding her by the hand dragged a little girl sobbing pitifully with fright and weariness.

"My good woman," spoke Barton, "what is the trouble?"

"Oh, sir, we are lost! The Dollivars are making a raid. They have burned our houses."

Barton got the three refugees into a copse and saw a party of a dozen rough men armed and carrying torches pass them by. Then there were more shots and shouts and a new lurid glare crossed the sky.

"It is our home," mourned the woman. "Oh, sir, help us."

"My husband and his band are in a refuge camp twenty miles south of here," explained the woman.

The woman, carrying the babe and leading the way, Barton with the little girl in his arms, they started on a forlorn tramp.

"We are almost there," announced the woman nearly four hours later as they started down a tortuous gap in the mountains. "There is the glow of their camp fire. Oh, I am so glad, so thankful to you." And then with the words she sank to the grass and swooned dead away.

Twenty steps brought the aviator in full view of the outlaw camp. A vivid picture halted, appalled him. A group of men were gathered near a camp fire, and over a branch of a great tree close at hand ran a rope. One end encircled the neck of a man with arms and feet tightly bound.

"Why! Why! Why!" shouted out Nelson Barton in three tones of rising horror, "it is my friend, my partner, Elwyn Moore! Stop! Stop!" he screamed, rushing forward and waving his arms wildly.

Half a dozen rifles covered him.

"What's this?" fiercely challenged the outlaw chief.

"This is my friend," proceeded Barton, pointing to Moore.

"Oh, maybe you're another detective, eh?" demanded the outlaw.

"Detective? Why, we are airmen."

"Suddenly the outlaw turned. The little girl had followed Barton.

"Mary, little Mary!" gasped the outlaw. "How did you come here?"

"I brought her," said Barton quickly; "your wife and baby, too. They are back near the spring. The Dollivars have raided your homes, and—"

A cry of rage went up from the rough crowd. The strangers were for a moment forgotten.

The outlaw chieftain came back to the camp fire with tears in his eyes, and gentle as a lamb. Instantly Moore was released. He overwhelmed Barton with thanks. He learned the real mission of the aviators in that forbidden district.

"Four of you," he shouted to his men, "get to Shelbyville as fast as you can, and bring back fifty gallons of gasoline."

"Ask him to give me my trophy," whispered Moore to his friend.

"Your trophy?"

"Yes, it's been a target fastened to that tree yonder."

The trophy, plus one deep bullet dent, was returned to its owner with apologies.

The airship made a brilliant non-stop flight, almost beating the record. A guest at the Barton home, Elwyn Moore had the coveted chance to present himself and his trophy to pretty Mabel Barton.

She admired it, and its owner as well. The result was natural. The trophy became a family heirloom. It was not only a reminder of the skill of its owner, but of that weird hour in the moonshiner's camp when the loyal Nelson Barton arrived "just in time!"

How Long Will Your Battery Last?

WITH any battery, the answer is—Until a certain amount of active material has fallen off the plates.

In the Philco Retainer Battery, this falling off is long delayed. The active material is held firmly in place by Philco Retainers—thin sheets of slotted hard rubber whose slots are so numerous that they allow the free passage of acid and current, but so narrow that the active material cannot readily pass through. The Philco Retainer is like a log boom, which lets the water through but holds the logs back.

LOUISE LOVELY AS A STAR SCORES SUCCESS

We have long known Louise Lovely as a leading woman of beauty and charm in William Fox screen produc-

Greenwood, in her latest musical comedy triumph, "Linger Longer, Letty," made her appearance at the Court theater last night to an audience that filled every seat and appreciated the show from start to finish. It was an evening of rapid fire comedy, furnished by a star that is a star in every sense of the word. Staged under the personal supervision of Oliver Morosco, this musical but has completely won its way into the hearts of the musical comedy lovers ever since it left the Fulton theater, New York, where it enjoyed a long run. Miss Greenwood, perhaps, orchestra, this particular part of the program is pleasingly carried out.

"Linger Longer, Letty," comes to the Auditorium March 18. Money orders being received now.

CHAPLIN HITS THE COMEDY HIGH SPOTS
Charlie Chaplin has hit the high spots in delightful entertainment in his first attempt at a feature length picture, "The Kid," which is the title he has given the story, which he has written himself. In the first place, it simply bubbles over with laughter and the situations are so human that you do not feel foolish because you are laughing. Again, it is long enough so that it provides a whole evening's entertainment in itself.
This feature will be seen today, also Saturday.

OLIVE THOMAS LAST PICTURE AT GRAND
Olive Thomas appeared in a great variety of roles during her screen career, but it is doubtful if any of her preceding characterizations excel or even equal her last portrayal is that of Mary the little "nobody" in "Everybody's Sweetheart," which is now appearing at the Grand theater for a 2 day run.
In spite of Mary's position, or lack of it she is a constant and living emblem of optimism. No matter what happens, Mary keeps her chin up and smiles and when in the final part of the picture the dream of this modern "Cinderella" come true, every person in the audience smiles both with and at Mary.
"Everybody's Sweetheart" is not simply a story of saccharine simpers and smiles but a well balanced dramatic tale of how the spirit of youth and inherent cheerfulness conquers all obstacles in reaching its goal.
Director Laurence Trimble surrounded the star with a cast of unusual caliber with Willie Collier, Jr., son of the famous comedian, as leading man, John Lynch is both author and scenarist of the story.

"CENTURY MIDNIGHT WHIRL" BIG ATTRACTION COMING
One of the most popular forms of entertainment in New York is the roof show. This is formed of special features. It is light, bright, happy and tuneful. It is given on the roofs of theaters after the regular performances and attracts the smart set and the fashionables and those who seek the jolly sort of entertainment. A roof show is coming here. It is the "Century Midnight Whirl." It is the show that was on the Century Roof in New York for three years. It will be at the Auditorium soon, when it will be presented far more elaborately and with a greater number of features than during its run in New York. John Henry Mears, who is sending the whirl here, is presenting it with an unusually distinguished cast, which includes Richard and Gertrude, Blanche King, Charles Winnington, Wynona Winter, Jay Gould, Maxson and Brown, the Bennett Twins, Virginia Birmingham, Grace
Cronin. Nor must the "Millionaire's Chorus" be omitted from the list of contributing features in the "Whirl."
This chorus is almost as famed as the stars who head the cast. Those in search of gaiety and jollity, who like catchy music and enjoy graceful dancing and admire beautiful girls and handsome costumes, will find all these in the "Whirl."

VICTOR HERBERT MUSICAL COMEDY COMING SOON
Victor Herbert's latest musical comedy success, "The Girl in the Spotlight," comes to the Auditorium soon, with the original production as given in New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago. According to the critics of these cities this play is recommended tions. Now we know her as a Fox star.

As a star she is appearing for the first time here at the Alhambra theater. In "The Little Grey Mouse," a story of keen dramatic interest written by Barbara Le Marr Deely.

The story deals with the familiar figure of a self-sacrificing wife tied to an unworthy husband. But the development of the plot is strikingly original and handled with great skill not only in the writing, but in the acting of Miss Lovely and a capable supporting company—in which Sam De Grasse is leading man.

James P. Hogan has done excellent work as director, and Barbara Le Marr Deely, who has written some very successful screen stories, has done nothing better than this.

"The Little Grey Mouse" may be set down as a winner, and Miss Lovely's debut in stardom as an unqualified success. The last showings are seen tonight.

MACK SENNETT'S GREATEST EFFORT SOON TO BE SHOWN

Mack Sennett's newest comedy creation, a five part comedy production, "Down on the Farm," regarding which there has been no end of exceptionally favorable comment since its issuance by United Artists Corporation, will be the feature at the Alhambra theater on Thursday, giving the people of this community the opportunity of witnessing a comedy production that is making film history.

The release of "Down on the Farm" through United Artists Corporation is not to be wondered at, for the production is of such magnitude that it fits in admirably with the type of picture in which the "Big Four" has been specializing. It has been known for some time that United Artists would not confine itself only to the distribution of the productions of Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks and D. W. Griffith exclusively, but would distribute the occasional big productions that came to the open market for specialization in distribution. This is an indication that the "Big Four" will have a release list of wide variety in addition to the big productions of its four principles. The feature will run three days.

"LINGER LONGER, LETTY"

A review of "Linger Longer, Letty," from a Wheeling newspaper, gives the following complimentary notice:
That perennial favorite, Charlotte

Greenwood is directly responsible for most of it makes her a welcome figure on the stage at all times.

Persons wishing to be intoxicated with laughter have but to see Charlotte Greenwood in "Linger Longer, Letty."
It is an Oliver Morosco production and the scenery, costumes and other effects have passed the approval of this well known producer. The music is tuneful and catchy at all times, and with the assistance of an augmented ment of more stars than almost any other producer. Mr. Herbert has written what is said to be the best score in many years and some critics say it is the very best work he has ever done.

There is an abundance of Herbert melody. The play is rich in its comedy and Mr. Lederer has selected a gen-

CHARLOTTE GREENWOOD
CAPITALIZES HER FAULTS

Capitalize your faults instead of knocking yourself, and you will get ahead in the world. With this as a motto, Charlotte Greenwood, the star in "Linger Longer, Letty," which comes to the Auditorium March 18, charged herself from a chorus girl on a stage.
After six years of pounding, when Charlotte counted up her liabilities and assets and found that she was short on assets and long on liabilities, she simply stopped calling them liabilities and dubbed them assets.

Under the first appellation, she was merely a chorus girl, with no especial ability, handicapped by a long face, fat cheeks, arms and legs that always broke up the sky-line in every chorus in which she appeared. Under the second appellation, beginning with the liabilities first, she was scarily funny, favored by fortune with arms and legs of such length as to distinguish her immediately from the rest on the stage. With those assets she has, as she expressed it, "threw her way into the big game" until she has the distinction of being the most popular mu-ical comedy star of the country today.

Miss Greenwood suggests purpose and determination for any one who wishes to succeed in any walk of life. Mail

CANARY HAS ROLE
IN NEW PHOTOPLAY

A canary plays a most important part in Douglas Fairbanks' new photoplay, "He Comes Up Smiling," which will be shown at the Auditorium theater next week. The bird is the property of Frances Marion, the scenarist who prepared the screen version from the stage play by Byron Ungley and Emil Styrsky, which made so notable a success in New York in 1914.

As Jerry, a tramp known as "The Watermelon," Fairbanks chases the canary for miles over houses and mountain tops, and in this performance he performs many stunts which are as faring as they are novel and surprising. The bird refused to work unless Miss Marion was near the camera, and as a result Miss Marion has been dubbed "supervising canary director."
Mr. Fairbanks is supported by Marjorie Daw, his leading woman, Frank Campana, Herbert Stanotz, Paul Manana and other notable men players.

CECIL B. DEMILLE.

MRS. M.—You ask how I manage to get such a correct picture of married life into my pictures. The answer may be summed up in three words: I am married.

No, that is not a facetious answer; I mean just that. I do not mean to say that all of the many phases of matrimony which I have used in my pictures are chapters from my own married life, but I do mean that my normal life as a married man has made it possible for me to analyze causes and effects in matrimonial problems and these analyses have been translated into the action of my screen plays.

True drama is life reflected with mirror-like fidelity. No phase of the human equation must be disregarded in translating life into dramatic form. Every husband and wife regard themselves as competent judges of all things pertaining to married life. Through their own experience they feel qualified to pass on the experiences of others, and particularly of those which are incorporated into a screen drama.

Hence it is essential that a successful matrimonial problem play be more life-like than life itself. It must convince the most sceptical of its critics, the millions of husbands and wives who form its potential audience.

I have succeeded in this field because I have studied the past and am studying the present of my own married life. I have analyzed my own experiences and the experiences of others, and I have used the conclusions thus reached as the sinews of my photoplays.

"Something To Think About," which will be my next picture to be shown, unlike my previous pictures, deals with the problems of the married life of a poor couple as well as with those of a couple who are well to do, but there is no striking difference between ease of wealth or poverty; the basic problems remain the same.

So once again I can sum up my answer to your question in three words: I am married.

A Better Toilet Paper

Size Does Not Always Mean Quantity

"Just Ask for Swan Tissue."

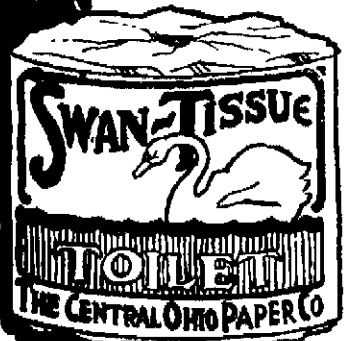

ALL rolls of toilet paper do NOT contain 1,000 sheets, as generally believed. In fact, very few of them do.

Don't be deceived by the big, loosely-wrapped roll. It's the number of sheets that count.

Swan Tissue has 700 actually-counted sheets—a guarantee of quantity far above the average. There is quality, too, in every one of its soft, absorbent sheets.

You get honest value and more of it, when you buy Swan Tissue. Ask for it by name instead of just "toilet paper."

KIDNEY SUFFERERS BENEFITED BEYOND BELIEF

Cincinnati, O., July 25, 1920.—After having been relieved of kidney trouble of several years standing by Dr. Carey's Marshroot prescription No. 777 am exceedingly grateful and proud in its praise—have recommended to it several fellow workers who were also benefited beyond their belief by its use. It is my candid opinion that there is no better remedy than Dr. Carey's Marshroot.

August 3rd I received your letter asking permission to reproduce my letter to you (as above). It will in any way help people to realize the true merits of Dr. Carey's Marshroot prescription you are at liberty to do so. I know that it cured me. I suffered great pain for several years and am certainly grateful and feel confident that if people who have kidney trouble will use it long enough to give it a fair test there will be more grateful ones added to the list.—John F. Douglas, 103 West Court Street, Cincinnati, O.

NOTE—Dr. Daniel G. Carey, the well known kidney specialist of Elmira, N. Y., who died recently, declared that his great prescription, No. 777, Marshroot, had helped thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. Remember the name, Dr. Carey's Marshroot Prescription, No. 777. No other medicine can take its place. Evans' Cut Rate Drug Store.—Adv.

Says His Prescription

Has Powerful Influence

Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, are dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging, he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Evans' Cut Rate drug store has been appointed agent for Allen's in this vicinity with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase money to all who state they received no benefit.

Foster then went to a nearby cottage and called the coroner.

Lind, gaunt, tall and slowly spoken, appeared grief-stricken yesterday at his stepdaughter's death. He admitted she had given him much trouble, had remained away from home at night times, and a month ago was gone all night.

His admission that the girl spent more than a year at the Girl's Industrial School, Delaware, was confirmed by juvenile court officials. She was taken there through the local court when found in a vacant house with several men two years ago. At that time she lived in Chillicothe and had run away.

Both Mrs. Harvey and the proprietress of the Buckeye Hotel said that when they called Foster three weeks ago to repair their electric fixtures he was accompanied by the Sowards girl and a worker. At that time they said, she did not know her identity.

The girl according to her father, attended the Office Training School and quit against his protest three weeks ago. He said he did not know her boy and girl companions. She has three sisters.

Attorney John A. Connor, who represents Foster in Columbus was in Newark yesterday. He told Mrs. Foster she said that no direct charge had been placed and in the absence of direct allegations nothing can be done.

In addition to Connor Foster has retained the firm of Fitzgibbon, Montgomery and Rineck of Newark for his defense and will be represented by them at the preliminary hearing in Hebron at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Officials would not permit Foster to talk yesterday, nor a statement to come from him.

WHEN NATION PAID TRIBUTE TO CHAMP CLARK

Funeral services being held in house of representatives.

While honoring the new president with fitting ceremonies, the nation also paid just tribute to Champ Clark, eight years speaker of the house of representatives, who died two days before his term ended—two days before the change in administrations at the capitol. The statesman's body lay in state before the speaker's stand in the house March 4 and until the funeral March 6. The funeral services, held in the house, were attended by the justices of the supreme court in court robes. Vice President Coolidge, ex-Vice President Marshall, General Pershing, fellow congressmen, and many other notables. The notes of the service show the speaker's death.

seats, before the casket, are the supreme court justices. General Pershing, in uniform and wearing Sam Brown belt, is sitting with his back to the camera. Clark remains were accompanied to St. Louis by a delegation of congressmen. After his body had lain in state there over the Sabbath it was taken to Bowling Green, his native city, for interment.

GALLAGHER DEEATS TERRE-HAUTE GRAPPLER

Paul Bowser last night defeated Charlie Ross, a Cuban wrestler, in straight falls at the Auditorium last night, securing both with the pin fall. The first fall went to Bowser after 25 minutes. The second came after 9 1/2 minutes.

Billy Gallagher was awarded the decision of Referee Vance Wallace over Johnny Wilson of Terre Haute. The referee disqualified Wilson after two minutes of wrestling for using the strangle hold. Wilson outwrestled Gallagher by five pounds.

In the preliminary Cora Livingston and Grace Brady wrestled to a draw in their one fall, 10 minute limit match. The largest crowd of the season was well pleased and applauded their work.

NEWARK MAN FILES CHARGE; TROUBLE STARTS

Charles Renfrew and Anna Doutrich of this city, according to a Chillicothe paper got into all kinds of trouble last Monday when Renfrew complained to the Chillicothe police that the girl had stolen $50 from him.

Renfrew admitted that he had a wife living and this led to the arrest of the woman on a statutory complaint and arrest charge. Then Renfrew, who is a soldier stationed at Camp Sherman, was arrested and turned over to the military authorities.

This will not end the trouble however as Renfrew stated that Emmet Corrigan, proprietor of the Canteen restaurant where Renfrew and his supposed wife lived in rooms, sold him a bottle of wine. Corrigan therefore was arrested and will have a hearing on the charge of selling intoxicating liquor.

Last Tuesday the woman was fined $25 and costs on the charge of adultery and was sentenced to six months in the reformatory at Marysville. Renfrew was fined $100 and costs.

HEATH TEAM WILL MEET Y SENIORS

At Hickey hall another battle in basket ball takes place when the fast Heath team will hook up with the Y Senior Squad. Much rivalry between these teams promises a hard struggle and incidentally the possibility of a tie for third place in the industrial basket ball league standing. Despite the fact that Heath trimmed the American Bottle team last week and the Y was badly walloped by Hebers, the Y team has some new players eligible to play tonight and will make the refinery players step the limit to repeat their last week's performance.

Midland and the Monette team will enter into a debate for a preliminary contest starting at 7:30 p. m.

BREDNUT

The New Nut Butter

You can't tell it from the choicest, freshest creamery butter

It is simply astonishing in taste, richness and texture. Everybody in your family will think it is fresh creamery butter. Nothing but the choicest butter fresh from the churn can equal it. Nobody can tell it from the most expensive cow butter.

Nothing like Brednut ever made before. Its remarkable flavor is the result of twenty years' experience in the manufacture of nut butter. Its surpassing richness is due to selected cocoanut cream and special pasteurized milk. Its butter-like texture cannot be duplicated—only the Brednut process, Brednut equipment, and Brednut care can produce it.

Brednut contains the same body-building and strength-building elements as creamery butter. It is unsurpassed for young and old. Children thrive on bread and Brednut. It makes the ideal butter-spread.

Brednut is wholesome—easy to digest. Contains no animal fat. Is pure and clean. Nothing more appetizing can be put on your table.

Yet Brednut with all its fresh creamery butter qualities costs you no more than ordinary nut butter. It gives you all the satisfaction of using the most expensive creamery butter on your table and in your cooking but at a fraction of creamery butter cost.

THE WILSON ADMINISTRATION.

The fateful administration of Woodrow Wilson now belongs to history. It has been assailed with a bitterness known in no previous part of our history. Yet it has accomplished some wonderful results. A few of those most notable may be mentioned below.

1.—It carried through to success the nation's part in the most terrible war of history. In spite of all criticism and attack, the fact remains that it won the war.

2.—Compared with the Civil and the Spanish-American wars, it was honestly conducted. No such atmosphere of scandal enveloped it as appeared after previous struggles.

3.—It was previously conducted in the field. The federal government in the Civil war was constantly changing generals. By a masterpiece of correct judgment, the command of our forces in France was put in the hands of a man capable of this job or organization, and he carried it through to success with comparatively little friction.

4.—It was a war conducted on a high moral plane. In previous struggles the soldiers were demoralized by vices. In this war every effort was made to surround the soldiers with clean influences.

5.—The mobilization of our forces conducted with wonderful efficiency by the draft boards, and the marshaling of America was assembled without friction or disturbance for its difficult service.

6.—Unrelentingly skillful work was done by propaganda to educate the people up to the causes of the war and the reasons why we must fight.

7.—The Wilson administration reorganized the financial system of the country by the federal reserve banking act, which makes practically impossible the financial panics that used to devastate business about every 10 years.

Many acts of reform legislation could be cited that have immeasurably improved economic conditions. The Wilson administration will be long remembered for these great achievements.

THE GARDENLESS HOME.

Newly arrived aliens often express surprise in their broken language, at a country where comparatively few people cultivate a back yard garden. They speak of the industrious habits that used to prevail in the old world, where people always expected to raise their own vegetables if they had a scrap of land to do it on.

This country, in its prodigal living, has largely got beyond the garden habit. Good work at food raising was done during the war, but the large majority of the novice gardeners in Newark had given up the practice by last summer.

Meanwhile many people loaf away their spare hours at their favorite hang-outs, and declaim about the cost of food and maintain they are not getting a living wage. Some of them say they are too tired after their day's work to wield the hoe. But a lot of them would be practically improved by the out door work. It would place them on the beginning of the road to prosperity.

PERILS OF FRIDAY.

There may be some people who think that President's Harding's administration is in for bad luck on account of its being inaugurated on a Friday. The time has been when it was exceedingly difficult to get people to start any important enterprise on that hoodoo day.

Business has frequently been hampered by this superstition. People who were short of help have found that if they hired a man on that day, he would not be willing to begin work then, no matter how badly he was needed. As Saturday is a short day, this frequently made it impossible to get people to start their job until the next Monday thus augmenting the inconvenience caused by delay. Many sailors would never slip for a voyage beginning on Friday.

Some ingenious people who wished to begin something on a Friday, would arrange that if you arranged your tools or performed some trifling act of work on Thursday evening, it would "take the curse off," and make it perfectly safe to go ahead Friday morning.

The Friday superstition of course originated from the crucifixion of Jesus upon that date. Perhaps the people who first circulated the idea, thought they were in that way impressing the enormity of that crime upon the people. But those who act on reason and logic do not need to be shown that no one would ever be punished for beginning a useful task on that day when Christ died.

The influence of superstition runs deep in human nature. Some people who entertain no faith whatever in such signs, still feel a slightly uneasy feeling when they ignore them. These old traditions are handed down from the twilight of civilization, when man's budding mind formed its conclusions from imperfect evidence, and was swayed by the unseen terrors of a poorly understood environment.

Formerly every house used to have its back yard garden, but it is not considered necessary now in Newark as people can get vegetables on credit.

The geographers say that the Mississippi is the biggest river, but they didn't figure on the stream of hooch coming over the Canadian border.

Visitors to Washington who perceive the whiskers cultivated by the eminent secretary of state, should not hastily jump to the conclusion that this is a bolshevik government.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

Each time a president retires to private life a chorus of suggestions pipes up to bowal the fact that the late chief executive must now stoop to earn his living. But if there is any adequate reason why an ex-president should not earn his living, it has yet to be stated. Woodrow Wilson, it is announced, will practice law, contrary to the expectations of those who had assumed that he would either devote his time after retirement to historical writing or to the single effort to regain his health.

His decision to work, as other Americans find it necessary to work, need cause no uneasiness. The claim of those who would make some governmental provisions for ex-presidents seems to be based on the absurd assumption that earning one's living is an activity somehow tainted and beneath the proper dignity of an ex-president; or that four or eight years in the presidency unfits an individual for so sordid an occupation as earning money.

On the contrary, it is the common American duty and privilege to live by the labor of hand or brain. The theory of democratic government is that an individual called temporarily to a position of authority, shall after the expiration of his duty return to the ranks as a private citizen. And, instead of unfitting a man for remunerative employment, a term in the presidency adds immensely to his earning capacity; the world is ready to pay him well for whatever he cares to undertake.

Other ex-presidents have left the White House to work in private capacities without sacrifice of dignity or usefulness. Woodrow Wilson does the same, as he should.

And so ad infinitum.

Doesn't that sound like a home run. Folks now DOESN'T it? Isn't it true! Fleas, fleas—EVERYONE OF US with other fleas consuming us! Going through life having one to someone else. ugh!

And it's all so silly and unnecessary. For the secret of REAL STRENGTH AND PROGRESS is exactly opposite to that being a NATURAL MAN. IT'S JUST BEING NATURAL. Not trying to show off or pretend, or flatter, or bluster, or fawn—but just expressing the ONE UNIQUE PERSONALITY THAT ONLY YOU CAN EXPRESS.

Within each one of us is the distinctive person we are meant to be, with the unlimited power that person was meant to have. I don't mean to say that we were all meant to be geniuses or statesmen. There's something more wonderful than being a statesman or a genius—and that's being a NATURAL MAN. The man who draws his strength from his own spirit and not like a flea from some other man's life will be, to all who know him, a moving miracle. He will own the world. The other men are FLEAS.

LII.—An Uncomfortable Afternoon.

The Langwell country home was turned into an improvised hospital with the arrival of the motor containing the unconscious body of the pretty modiste. A guest room was not ready with speed by the well-trained servants, and Edith's own wardrobe yielded the necessary garments for the girl. Edith's maid was appointed temporary nurse.

Edith herself took no part in rendering aid. She came downstairs to the parlor, where Nancy and Major Desmond were putting in an uncomfortable afternoon, chaperoned by the but-drowning Stanley her face set and white. Nancy looked up, a question on her lips.

"She will live, Frederick says," Edith answered, mechanically ringing for tea. "She is not even seriously injured, but she must have complete rest and not be moved under any circumstances."

Nancy murmured her sympathy, and Stanley came out of his alcoholic daze to mumble something about it "being hard to kill a tough'un."

"Where is that vulgar little man?" Edith asked, glancing about her. "He was left to the wreck after getting patched up a bit," Desmond replied. "He was worried about his license plate and some other things which might identify the car."

Edith's lip curled scornfully, but she bustled herself with the tea things. Desmond sat beside her on the cushioned settee, leaning forward elbow on knees, staring down into his tea cup. Stanley knew that Stanley's earliest words: "Oh boy, if you only KNEW!" was a flaming sword between them.

Stanley sagged comfortably in his chair, the picture of drowsy content. No pricking conscience for what he had done to the two young people opposite disturbed his well-being. He had forgotten the incident long since.

Edith, nervously fumbling among the tea things, seemed to be listening for a step on the stair.

It came finally—the firm decisive tread of Dr. Lanzwell.

He came in breezily, smiling good humor. "Nice family party. What are you having—only tea? Edith, I'm ashamed of you! Do you want to alienate our guests forever?"

He rang the bell for the maid momentarily.

Stanley sat up briskly. "That's the best remark I've heard for a long time," he said jovially. "I'm FOR you Doctor!"

"Dr. Langwell," begged Nancy, "if you value your property and your peace of mind, I implore you not to let Curtis have a single highball. You don't know his falling: I DO. And I feel responsible to his wife for his behavior."

Stanley grinned foolishly. "It's bad enough to be henpecked by your own wife, but when your wife's friend takes a hand—"

He broke off with a gesture. "The doctor laughs."

"As prescribing physician, I think a small drink will be good for your nerves after the excitement this afternoon."

He took the tray containing bottles and glasses from the maid, and proceeded to measure out amber liquids with a practiced hand.

"Queer coincidence, this, having that girl turn out to be Mrs. Langwell's dressmaker. It's a small world!"

He paused a moment and cleared his throat.

"Funniest yet her babbling about a chap with my name!"

GIANT X-RAY TO TREAT CANCER

Important Discovery is Made by Professor at Harvard University.

HAS ADVANTAGE OVER RADIUM

Experiments in University Laboratory
Make it Possible to Produce X-rays of More Penetrating Power Than Ever Before.

Cambridge, Mass. — Discoveries made by William Duane, professor of biophysics at Harvard, working in collaboration with research students of physics, have made it possible, according to Harvard physicists, to secure X-rays of more penetrating quality than have ever before been obtained in this country and these new rays are now to be used for the first time in America for the alleviation of cancer.

While it is emphatically stated by Professor Duane that neither X-rays nor radium should be considered a permanent cure for all kinds of cancer, it has long been known that radium has a marked alleviative effect upon this disease.

The Harvard cancer commission is erecting a new building adjoining the Collis P. Huntington hospital in Boston, where an X-ray plant will be installed, as well as the commission's radium plant.

What Discovery Means.

The significance of the discovery was explained in the following statement at Harvard:

"The advantage of X-rays over radium is that the latter is scarce and immensely expensive, costing at present more than $100,000 a gram, and can, therefore, only be used in small quantities. If X-rays were used it would be possible to make the rays enormously more powerful than has been possible with the limited amount of radium available.

"The trouble with the use of X-rays up to this time has been that they are not as penetrating as the so-called Gamma rays of radium and the problem of the Harvard physicists has been to secure this needed quality.

"It was known that to secure penetration it was necessary to secure a high frequency of vibration. The Harvard physicists, after many experiments, found that a physical law known as the 'quantum law' applied to the X-ray spectrum, and discovered that they could increase the frequency of the rays and thus their penetration, by increasing the voltage of current used in the X-ray tube.

Gets Enough Voltage.

"Professor Duane reports that the tube goes to pieces under a voltage of more than 150,000 volts, but that a sufficiently high voltage has been obtained to make the X-rays very nearly as effective for certain medical purposes as the Gamma rays of radium.

"Long continued exposure to X-rays is so dangerous to the operator that the greatest pains have to be taken to protect him from them. In the Jefferson physical laboratory at Harvard, where Professor Duane makes his experiments, the X-ray plant is kept in a room by itself and the rays are sent out through a minute slit in the wall. The brick wall at this point is reinforced with lead and a lead screen is placed across the door. Many experimenters in various places have been killed or seriously injured by constant use of X-rays."

INDIAN PLEADS FOR FISH RIGHTS

Aged Chief Recalls Treaty Made With the Governor of Washington in 1855.

CHEERED BY LEGISLATORS

Protests Against Disregard of Pact Which Recognized Right of Indians to Take Salmon in the Yakima River.

Olympia, Wash.—Sixty-six years ago in the spray of Prosser falls, an Indian chief and the then governor of Washington respectively pledged their people to abide by a pact.

This pact recognized the perpetual rights of the Yakima tribe to fish where from time immemorial the red man had taken his salmon.

The Indians had been reluctant, saying to Gov. Isaac I. Stevens, "but when you are dead, who will bear witness to your promises?" And the governor had replied:

"I pledge the Americans to keep the promises as long as the sun shines and the river runs."

Calling upon these mute witnesses and summoning the spirits of the dead, Chief Meninock of the Yakimas has just made a speech of protest at the whites' violation of that treaty, in the state senate chamber here, which is the most dramatic recorded in its annals.

Boy When Treaty Was Made.
And that speech, which would do credit to the historic orators of his race, with its sharp challenge to the white man's honor, bids fair to correct a wrong the Indians had hitherto borne in silence.

Meninock was a boy when the treaty was made. He had stood attentively beside his father on that occasion. Today he is 80, and wrinkled. Much water has run over Prosser falls since then, and the salmon have dwindled. Also, the whites have enacted fish and game laws which conflict so with the treaty of 1855 that Meninock was recently arrested for taking salmon from the Yakima river.

A few days ago Chief Meninock and other tribal leaders, together with their wives and children, appeared at the imposing state lodge of the white men at the state capitol here to protest. In their feathered and beaded trappings and scarlet blankets they projected a vivid picture of the past into the busy legislative councils as the chief rose to speak in dignified protest.

Calls Upon Spirits.

"My heart is glad today," said Meninock with solemn men and sonorous tongue, "because you have said you would listen to what we have to say. It makes me feel that you want to do right by my people whose privileges have been taken and who are sick and sad for being deprived of the food which has given them health and strength."

"I call upon the spirits of the dead and upon those witnesses which Governor Stevens himself invoked to testify that I speak the truth—for the white topped mountain still stands and the river still runs over the falls where the salmon in season come to leap."

When the old chief sat down among his people the assembled legislators broke into a storm of approving cheers, and the senate committee which has the Indians' case under advisement immediately went on record as favoring the claims of Meninock and his folk, as included in a bill already introduced.

"White men," said the chief as he marched away, "are not so much dishonest as they are sometimes short in memory."

BAD BREATH

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Get at the Cause and Remove It

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, act gently on the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets without griping, pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color. Take one or two every night for a week and note the effect. 15c and 30c.

HOW WOMEN AVOID SURGICAL OPERATIONS

Some Are Extremely Necessary, Others May Not Be

Every Woman Should Give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Trial First

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a female trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They all said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took 22 bottles, never missing a dose and at the end of that time I was perfectly well. I have never had occasion to take it again as I have been so well. I have a six room flat and do all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and you may publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to any one who wants a personal letter."—Mrs. E. H. HAYDOCK, 6824 St. Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill.

A Vermont woman adds her testimony to the long line of those fortunate women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, after it had been decided an operation was necessary:

Burlington, Vt.—"I suffered with female trouble, and had a number of doctors who said that I would never be any better until I had an operation. I was so bad I could hardly walk across the floor and could not do a thing. My sister-in-law induced me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it certainly has helped me wonderfully. I keep house and do my work and have a small child. I have recommended Vegetable Compound to a number of my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. H. R. SHARON, Apple Tree Point Farm, Burlington, Vt.

In hospitals are many women who are there for surgical operations, and there is nothing a woman dreads more than the thought of an operation, and the long weary months of recovery and restoration to strength if it is successful. It is very true that female troubles may through neglect reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but most of the common ailments of women are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same. When disturbing ailments first appear take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles. In fact, many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

"Prisoners"

By FREDERICK CLARKE

(© 1921, Western Newspaper Union.)

The pretty girl in the traveling water peered through the aperture in the thick wooden door which served also as a window. The room was a tiny one deep down in the bow of the liner, and almost completely dark.

"Can you tell me where the ship's prison is?" she asked and, seeing the expression of surprise upon the face of the man within, she added hastily:

"The captain told us that there's a poor man in there who is being taken back to America to be tried. And I thought that as tomorrow is New Year's day he might like—Oh, I beg your pardon!"

There was no mistaking her confusion. As her eyes became accustomed to obscurity she could see that the man's leg was fastened by a long chain to a huge ball of iron.

"I am the prisoner," he answered quietly. "And I thank you with all my heart for the—money."

"I am so sorry," she answered, recognizing that the voice was that of a gentleman. Even the thanks had been at once an acknowledgment and a refusal. She slipped the purse back into her bag again. "Forgive me," she said in humiliation.

"On one condition," he answered. "That you come again to say good-by and wish me good fortune when the ship docks. Sympathy of any kind is so entirely foreign to my experience that—well, somehow I like it."

"Yes, I will come," she answered gently.

That night the girl cried herself to sleep in her magnificent stateroom. "I wonder whether his prison is worse than mine!" she sighed.

Nearly four hours later the Patagonia collided with a French liner in a dense fog. She was struck fairly amidships and crumpled into a helpless wreck. The other vessel stood by and, ten minutes later, the passengers and crew were transferred aboard her.

Down in the little prison under the bow a man waited, forgotten by all save one—a girl who had run to him, still half asleep, her fellow prisoner in the flesh, as she in the spirit.

"Can't you climb through the window?" she pleaded.

"Won't you go back and leave me?" the prisoner answered.

"No," she replied. "They have saved themselves and forgotten you, the cowards! I shall not go unless you come with me."

"Then," answered the prisoner, "you will find an ax hanging beside the galley door."

She found it and passed it to him through the little window. She heard the hammer of steel on iron. Presently he had hacked loose the chain, with its shameful ball, and began hammering upon the timbers. In a few minutes the stout door swung off its hinges. They ran up on the deck together, along slanting passages and tilting stairs.

The ship was deserted. They looked at each other and read their fate in each other's eyes.

"Why did you do this for me?" asked the man.

"Because I, too, am a prisoner," she answered.

"You don't look like a prisoner," he returned grimly.

"I will tell you then. I was going back to America to be married to a man I hate. It does not matter how I came to be pledged to him. If I had broken my troth friends would have been ruined—friends to whom I owe everything. It was my task to sacrifice myself. Do you want to know more?"

He shook his head.

"Not even my name?"

"No. But you know nothing of me. I, too was returning to America, to years of captivity—for a crime committed. And I was guilty. You ought to know the worst of me because I do not want to die while you believe in me."

"I wish to know nothing," she answered.

"If I had known you before, I might have played a different part," he said. The night wore on; only the gradual tilting of the deck told them that the end was inevitable.

Her hand stole into his and his fingers clasped it. A fierce longing to live surged into his soul. In that imminent danger their hearts were revealed, each to each.

"The ship may last till dawn," he said. "If we are saved, will you come with me to some far off country and let us redeem our lives together?"

He felt her answering clasp and, turning toward her, he took her in his arms and kissed her.

The east grew light. Night was gone, and their love had dawned as perfect as that day.

Out of the horizon a small tramp steamship was bearing down on them. When she came nearer it could be seen that she flew the Brazilian flag.

French Folk Songs.

French folk songs have a small compass and do not express violent emotions, but show a strong instinct for form. They are perfect in their way, and amazingly finished in effect, thus illustrating one quality at least of the national art character, the love of perfect and delicate work. "Rosaignolet des bois," a beautiful song of the sixteenth century, and "Chanson de la Perronelle," an old "chanson narrative," are good examples of French folk music.

The battle of the Monitor and Merrimack was fought March 9, 1862.

Spring Wheat Leader of the World

[National Crop Improvement Service]

THE LARGEST part of the spring wheat acreage is now sown to life wheats, of which the Marquis variety is the most popular. Blue Stem is good but Velvet Chaff, Humpback and other wheats are now practically discarded on account of the poor returns which they have brought.

Owing to the fact that in the past ten years rust has ruined a large percentage of the spring wheat, farmers in the Northwest are looking for a wheat which is not so susceptible to rust infection.

This has led a great many of them to sow durum wheat which does not make good bread flour. They argue that because it sometimes resists rust to a greater extent than Marquis and the other good bread wheats, that it should be grown extensively.

This is a mistaken idea because Americans are not macaroni eaters and while there may be room for perhaps ten per cent of durum in the spring crop, if too much of it is raised, it cannot fail to react on the farmer and result in durum selling at a discount under spring wheat for the same reason that corn sells at a very much lower price relatively than wheat.

The government, the states, the millers and the better farmers are all agreed that in a normal year Marquis will vindicate itself in quality, quantity and price.

Repeated baking tests have shown that Marquis makes a loaf of very much finer quality than any other of the wheats; that the durums (Kubanka and Armatka) will make a loaf fairly large in volume, but yellow in color and coarser in texture.

Red Durum wheat, called D-5 or rust proof durum, has been introduced in some sections, but it will not make bread nor macaroni and its only merit is that it is heavy and is used in export to improve the weight of light and chaffy grain.

It is stated by the stations that if Marquis wheat is well cleaned, treated for smut and put in early, that it stands an excellent chance of escaping rust and it is generally the most profitable crop because millers are always willing to pay a premium for fine, heavy, dark kneaded Marquis.

The Northwest grows the best spring wheat in the world and flour made from it always sells for a better price and practically all of it is distributed by the grain exchanges.

YOU GET BOTH KINDS OF SERVICE WITH AN AVERY

There are only two kinds of service. The service you get when you are using your machine and the service you get when you need some little assistance in the way of a repair part or two.

And you get both when you have an Avery. First they do good work and last a long time. But second if you do need any help we are always ready to aid you promptly. We keep a stock of Avery Tractor and Thresher parts on hand at all times. You can depend on us—you won't be held up during your rush season waiting on some little part, should you need one. As one Avery Owner said, "My Avery doesn't need many repairs, but when I do need them, I can get them mighty quick."

And he is right too. If we haven't got just what he wants, there is an Avery Branch House right close to fall back on, and they are right on the job too all the time.

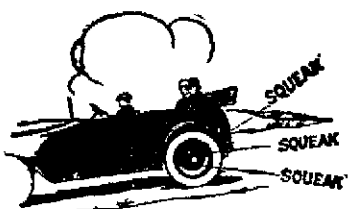

Think this over when you consider the purchase of a tractor or thresher. You might as well have no tractor at all as to have one that you can't depend on.

Come in and let us explain the Avery Tractors to you. Built in eight sizes—a size for every size farm. From 5-10 H. P. to 45-65 H. P. Or ask us for a catalog.

Squeaking Brakes

can often be avoided by washing surface of brake lining (glazed by oil and dirt) with kerosene or gasoline. Generally, however, "squeaking" is due to poor lining or lining attached with rivets that are not countersunk.

Insist that Raybestos brake lining be properly applied to your car—with copper or brass rivets correctly countersunk. Then you may demand twelve months of quiet, efficient wear if yours is a passenger car or truck up to 2 tons, and proportionate service on heavier trucks.

YANKEE SAILORS EXPERT AT SEA

A. S. Merchant Marine Blessed
With Officers and Men
Quick to Learn.

CREWS ARE NOT MUTINOUS

Accidents to Ships Growing Fewer
Because of Increased Experience—Make Good When Emergencies Arise at Sea.

Rotterdam.—Whatever may be the ultimate fate of the American merchant marine, the American Jack Tar has come back to his own. This is the verdict of constant observers in the shipping department of the United States consulate general at Rotterdam, one of the biggest ports for American ships in Europe, to which come monthly thousands of American merchantmen.

These Yankee ships' officers and sailors, for the most part products of only two or three years of training, have learned to handle their big freighters with all of the skill of the windjammer crews of the old Yankee clipper days. They do not, for the most part, know how to reef a top-sail or do any of the hundreds of nautical things for which there were rich-sounding terms in the days of the sailing ships.

There is an Emergency.

But when it comes to piloting a big steamer through a heavy gale, stoking the fires of the coal burners or turning to with a vim at any of the emergency tasks that may develop at sea, the American born, American trained ship's officer or "A. B." (able bodied seaman) in the language of the seamen's resorts on the Schiedamschedykke here, "won't take nuthin' from nobody."

The big books of the consulate general, in which are recorded the histories of the voyages of these American ships and the complaints of the crews, bear out Jack's contention that he is as able a seaman as any who sails the seven seas.

"These records show," said one of the consular officials, "that American ships' officers are as efficient as British, Dutch or Scandinavians trained long to the sea. They show that the young American sailor can learn his work quickly, that a boy whose nautical experience three years ago was confined to pumping water for the cows on the farm, or bathing in the old swimmin' hole, can adapt himself to his ship as well as a Norwegian lad who has been trawling for fish since he first wore trousers.

Different Now.

"For a short time, because of lack of proper charts and much experience, accidents to American ships seemed much more frequent than to those of other nationalities. Now, this is changing.

"American-born, newly-trained captains have no more trouble with their crews than the masters of ships flying other flags, or masters who have become naturalized Americans in order to get an American ship. In fact, in many cases they have less.

"Not long ago, an American captain who was only 27 years old, brought his tramp freighter all around the world, making money on the voyage, and his crew had not a single complaint to record against him."

STAMP-DUE MAIL RETURNED

Postmasters Instructed to Send Foreign Matter Back If Not Fully Paid.

Washington. — American business concerns and individuals who mail foreign letters without sufficient postage, thereby causing the recipients to pay a penalty double the amount due before they may receive the mail, are offered a remedy by the postoffice department to prevent such negligence.

Complaints reaching the department of commerce through American consular representatives say foreign business concerns and individuals greatly resent having to "buy" their American mail and these have resulted in efforts to prevent the practice.

Postmasters have been notified that all mail destined abroad and which bears printed, written or stamped notation readings "Dispatch only if postage is fully prepaid" or similar direction, shall, if underpaid, be returned to senders for affixing of additional postage stamps required.

BARON GETS EVEN ON NAME

British Authorities Refuse First One, He Takes "Ystwyth of Tan-y-Bwch."

London.—Mr. Vaughan-Davies, member of parliament for Cardiganshire, one of the five recently created peers, has discovered that a mere baron can not select any title he may desire.

He wanted to call himself baron of Cardiganshire, which he has represented in parliament for many years, and so notified the authorities that have charge on such matters.

He was told that he couldn't have it. Nobody under the rank of earl could choose the name of a county or a country town for his title. So he has elected to be known as Baron Ystwyth of Tan-y-Bwch, which nobody but a Welshman knows how to pronounce.
